

ROME CAPTURED BY GERMANS

By ROGER GREENE
(By the Associated Press)
Rome surrendered to German attack today after being shelled by Nazi artillery, Berlin claimed, while Allied sea-borne forces captured the big Italian naval base at Taranto and a huge America-British invasion armada was reported moving against the Nazi-occupied Balkan kingdom of Albania.
A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's headquarters said "the commander of Rome" capitulated after an assault by Field Marshal Von Kesselring—an attack apparently made with the intention of ousting Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio and perhaps King Vittorio Emanuele III to be replaced by a puppet Fascist regime.

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, victim of the great Allied victory in North Africa, was disclosed as commander of German forces in northern Italy as the Allies smashed Nazi resistance in the Naples area and drove deeper into the heart of the embattled kingdom.
These were the highlights in a day of rapid-fire developments which saw German and Italian troops locked in bitter fighting in northern Italy and a sea-air battle between Nazi bombers and Italian warships fleeing to join the Allies.

Madrid advices said the Germans had seized control of the Brenner Pass, vital link between northern Italy and Germany, after severe fighting with Italian garrisons. German reports said the Italians were now withdrawing to the west in the Alps near Caporetto.
Berlin asserted that 80,000 Italian soldiers had surrendered their arms to German forces in northern Italy in the past 24 hours, after brief fighting at Trieste and Cremona.
The messages from Rome indicated that the government of Premier Marshal Pietro Badoglio was still in power in the capital, but that the Germans were attempting to take possession of the City of Seven Hills with the intention of setting up their own Italian puppet regime.

The Rome radio sent out word that shells were falling on the city's outskirts and that it was bombed during the night. No announcement had been made here of a new Allied raid on Rome, and on the basis of information available here, no Allied troops had reached the Rome area.

ALLIES START INVASION OF BALKANS AS YANKS STOP NAZIS AT NAPLES

Meandering Along the Main Stem By WASH FAYETTE

Looking through some old photographs one day this week,
I picked up one of the memorial arch that was erected on the Court Street side of the Court House lawn, spanning the broad walk about midway between the courthouse steps and the sidewalk, as a memorial to the Fayette County war dead in the first World War.

The arch was a frame structure,
succeeded, and really a beautiful and massive arch. It was built with funds from the Fayette County War Council, and as I recall it, was the idea of Jess W.
Smith, former department store
owner and member of the War Council.

The arch bore the heavy bronze tablets and two heavy bronze eagles which later were transferred to the more permanent granite memorial that now stands on the Court House lawn.
The bronze tablets also bore the names of the 45 Fayette County
boys who died while in service.
As I recall it, the bronze pieces
cost around $1,850.

The memorial arch was dedicated in due time, stood for many years, and was finally torn away
to make way for the granite memorial.

Have you ever felt like the man I saw on Court Street this week who was watching some of the school youngsters hurrying along from place to place buying their school supplies? He has two children in school and while he gazed on some of the excited kids
he remarked, "Well, I see I have to start brushing up on my education again to be ready for my kids and their homework".

Our boys down in the southwest Pacific certainly have been handling the dirty Japs without gloves, but when it comes to mosquitoes, well that is a different story.

I have just learned that someone from this community who is in the armed forces in the Solomon Islands has written that a shipment of gloves from the Jackson Glove Company had reached them, and the gloves are being used to protect their hands
from the voracious mosquitoes,
which are, in many instances,
decidedly more annoying than the Japs because they are more difficult to kill.

Reminds me of some of those huge mosquitoes that I encountered near St. Louis, a number of years ago, while visiting the huge Cahoki mounds near East St. Louis. I will not tell you just how large those "skeeters"
were or how vicious they were,
but I can imagine they were at least variety of the Solomon Island variety of the insects.

SPITSBERGEN ISLAND SEIZED, SAY GERMANS

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(P)—German naval units and marines
were reported by the Berlin radio
last night to have attacked the Arctic island of Spitsbergen on Wednesday, capturing prisoners, destroying munitions and fuel supplies, and wrecking radio and meteorological installations.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, implied the Allies had established a substantial base on the former Norwegian island 600 miles east of Greenland and 660 miles from the North Pole.

NAZI DEFENSES CRUMBLING AS REDS DRIVE ON

German Line Split on Road
To Kiev by Attack from Liberated Donets Basin

SOVIETS NEARING DNEIPER

Last Ditch Stand of Hitler
Horde About To Be Given
Its Final Acid Test

By HENRY C. CASSIDY
MOSCOW, Sept. 10.—(P)—Triumphant Red army troops, having virtually split the German southern and central defense sectors by the capture of Bakhmach, 18 miles southwest of Konotop
on the road to Kiev, bludgeoned their way to within 80 miles of the Nazi Dnieper River defense line today.

Far to the south, streaking
across the Sea of Azov hinterland
from the liberated Donets Basin, other Soviet forces were even closer to the German last ditch defense system, front dispatches said.

They were reported less than 60 miles from Dnieperpetrovsk, site of Russia's greatest power project, and within 35 miles of the junction of the Stalino-Dnieperpetrovsk and Kharkov-Zaporoz-
he railroads.

Capture of this vital rail center
would further cut the German north-south communications and would jeopardize the whole German position in the Crimea.

(A German radio report, recorded in London by The Associated Press, told of still another threat to the hard-pressed Nazi forces in the south. The broadcast said that Soviet troops had made landings along the Sea of Azov coast
south of Stalino near Mariupol.
Moscow did not confirm this report.)

Red army columns south of Stalino already have advanced more than 80 miles in the past three days, and dispatches from the front indicated a decided weakening of German resistance in this sector. Yesterday they drove through Petrovka, 30 miles southwest of Stalino and 44 miles northwest of Mariupol, a Soviet communique reported, and garnered an additional 180 populated places along the way in advances
of from three to 10 miles.

Premature Explosion in Balkans Feared As Allies Rush To Coordinate Attacks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(P)—
How to prevent a premature explosion in Europe's traditional powder-keg, the Balkans, was viewed here today as one of the pressing problems now confronting Allied strategists.

The fuse was lit, as expected,
when Italy surrendered, and already there have been reports of hastily-summoned war councils
in the German satellite nations.
These are taken here as only the outward signs of alarm in high quarters and strong unrest
among the populations.

It may be expected, therefore,
that some of the next major developments in Europe may come in some of those nations—Rumania, Hungary and Bulgaria—
or in the two conquered countries of Yugoslavia and Greece
where it is assumed that the spirit of rebellion against Nazi domination is strengthened by belief that the day for action is fast approaching.

For the Allies this poses a delicate problem of timing and control. The first sign of an attempt at solution came in a broadcast message by Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied commander
in the Middle East, to Yugoslavia and Greece. He told the two countries to "await our signal for a general uprising," and said
the hour of liberation had not yet arrived.

The aim of Allied strategy for the Balkans now must be to try to keep the forces of revolution and guerrilla warfare from spending their power before the armies of Britain and the United States are prepared to give them
full assistance.

Because of the problem of

JOB FOR MUSSOLINI

LONDON, Sept. 10.—(P)—The Berlin radio said today that former Italian Premier Benito Mussolini would be chief of the German-sponsored "national Fascist government." The broadcast was recorded here by the Associated Press.

getting troops into the Balkans
an offer of surrender at present or in the immediate future might be somewhat embarrassing to the Allied commanders in the Mediterranean theaters. For if troops could not be dispatched in force, Germany might take advantage of any such situation to take over the surrendering country.

In fact, a premature explosion
in the Balkans could have the effect of forcing the Germans into action and while any development which complicates their already difficult policing job has advantages for the United Nations, the establishment of strong German forces in the Balkans could make much more difficult

the task of cracking that front
in the future.

The Allied commitments in Italy have gone too far now to permit diversion of forces before the length of the boot is brought under control.

The best estimate here is that it may be some weeks before the British Eighth Army and the Allied army under American Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark have driven the enemy rear guards into northern Italy and come to grips with the main German force south of the Brenner Pass.

NAZI FORT BREACHED WITH FALL OF ITALY

THE CAPITULATION OF ITALY opens up for the Allies still another invasion route leading into Germany and German-held territory (white area). To protect the heavily industrialized southern section of their country, the Nazis are expected to make a stand at the Po Valley, in northern Italy. The white arrows, from Allied territory, show other invasion routes. Neutral countries are marked by diagonal lines. (International)

Ohio Wheat Quota Raised

COLUMBUS, Sept. 10.—(P)— Elmer Kruse, chairman of the Ohio Agricultural War Board,
said today the state's 1944 production of soft winter wheat must equal 38,000,000 bushels grown in 1942 even though it became necessary to exceed an allotted 1,650,000 acres to reach the goal.

He said he told a meeting of grain association representatives yesterday that should growers feel an increase in already-fixed acreage was needed, they should follow their own judgment. The representatives met to seek an increase in the allotment, which Kruse said was set by wartime demands of all farm products.

H. E. Irvin, president of the United Mills at Grafton, remarked that it might be necessary to exceed the quota by 200-000 or 300,000 acres, and Kruse
voiced no objection.

However, he said, it is the "patriotic duty" of farmers to stay within the quota if at all possible.

"This is a war crop, but over the nation numerous crops figure into the picture," he said.
W. W. Cummings, secretary-
treasurer of the Ohio grain, mill & feed dealers' Association, reported Ohio's wheat acreage dwindled from 2,544,000 acres in 1937 to 1,644,000 acres this season.

The quota system will advance
the acreage only to 1,650,000

Armed Force Sufficient Says U. S. Congressman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—(P)—

Calling for a showdown on the whole question of further enlarging the army and navy, Senator Downey (D., Calif.) declared bluntly today "I am of the opinion the present numbers in the armed forces are sufficient."

As he cleared the decks for the second day of hearings on the manpower situation in general and the west coast's problems in particular, Downey told reporters
he was "impressed" by Maj. Gen.
Lewis B. Hershey's comment following Italy's surrender.

The Selective Service director was quoted as saying, "we probably won't have to mobilize as many men for the remainder of the war as we have in the past."
This statement, however, dovetailed with the testimony of Hershey's assistant, Lt. Col. Francis V. Keesling, chief legislative and liaison officer for Selective Service. Urging recommitment of the Wheeler bill which would defer pre-Pearl Harbor fathers from the draft until next January 1, Keesling declared:

"Congress by enacting such legislation would be making a decision contrary to the views of the high command and which might require modification of war plans or hinder their execution."

Meanwhile a general investigation of Selective Service was projected by Chairman May (D., Ky.)
of the House Military committee, who accused draft officials of trying to destroy the autonomy of local boards.

INVASION FLEET IN IONIAN SEA NEARS ALBANIA

Huge Allied Armada Escorted by Powerful Warship Convoy

GRIP ON ITALY IS TIGHTENED

Germans Putting Up Stiff Fight To Hold Northern Part of Country
As Buffer for Germany

By ROGER GREENE

(By the Associated Press)

A huge British-American invasion armada was reported moving today against the German-occupied Balkan kingdom of Albania, across the Adriatic Sea from southeast Europe.

Dispatches from the Swiss-Italian frontier and Reuters, the British news agency, both reported that a powerful Allied convoy escorted by warships was steaming up the Ionian Sea toward Albania.

German troops, rushing in to replace surrendered Italian armed forces, were said to have newly occupied Italy and the whole east Adriatic coast.

A tiny, mountainous country bordering Greece and Yugoslavia,
Albania fell to Italian invaders in 1939.

On the Italian front, capture of Italy's great port of Naples, 100 airplane miles south of Rome, appeared imminent as Allied headquarters announced that U. S. Fifth Army troops who swept ashore in the Naples vicinity 24 hours earlier had crushed German resistance in the area.

The invading forces have firmly established their bridgeheads
despite strong German resistance, the war bulletin said, adding that Ventotene Island, 25 miles due west of Naples, was captured yesterday. The Italian garrison on the island surrendered to a divisional force, the bulletin added.

In the Calabrian peninsula, the British Eighth Army has continued to advance, headquarters said, and has captured Pizzo, on the west coast of Calabria four miles above Vibo Valentia.

In spite of enemy opposition, the Naples landings were carried out according to plan, the communique declared.

For the first time, it was disclosed that the naval forces immediately engaged in the landing operations at Naples are under the command of Vice Admiral Henry Hewitt of the United States Navy.
Both American and British fleet units are included.

Before the thousands of assault troops swarmed ashore, mine-sweepers passed back and forth along the coast clearing out mines laid off the beaches.

The work of unloading ships and other naval craft has continued "without intermission" ever since the first landing forces hit the beach at 4 A. M. yesterday, it was announced.

Although it had been announced that Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark was in command of the assault, this was the first official disclosure here that the Fifth Army, training in North Africa for months,
had been chosen to undergo its baptism of fire in this new Allied move to carve a European land route to Berlin.

Despite German resistance,
both flanks of the British Eighth Army in the Calabrian peninsula on Italy's toe advanced along the eastern and western coastal roads. Heavy demolitions slowed up the advances to some extent.

In taking Pizzo, the British and Canadian forces in the south
again resorted to the "leap-frogging" tactics that have accounted for so many Allied advances
along the shores of both Sicily and Italy.

Stefani, the Italian news agency, said the outskirts of Rome itself were shelled at midday today.

Heavy gunfire was heard in the Eternal City, and a Rome broadcast also reported that unidentified planes had bombed the Italian capital during the night, inflicting casualties and damage.

"The battle with this naval formation is still in progress."

Radio Rome said three 35,000-ton Italian battleships, along with a flotilla of cruisers and destroyers, had left the naval base at La Spezia on the northwest Italian coast.

KINDERGARTEN PROGRAM HERE BEING EXPANDED

Over 75 Attending Two Daily Sessions at Cherry Hill

Kindergarten enrollment here is now at the stage where an expansion of the program is necessary, A. B. Murray, superintendent of city schools said today. Mrs. Bliss Robinson has been employed to supervise the extra room used for kindergarten activity for the first time this year. Miss Jane Durant is also teaching in the kindergarten at Cherry Hill School, a position she has held since its organization.

Mrs. Robinson had her training at the University of Southern California and has taught in the primary grades at Delano, California.

At this time there are about 35 attending the morning session from Cherry Hill, Rose Avenue and Central and more than 40 attending the afternoon session from Sunnyside and Eastside. Enrollment will be closed at the end of the second week of school. After that time only children who have had kindergarten training will be enrolled.

Parents with children of kindergarten age—those who will not be five years old by December 31—should contact Miss Opal Davis, principal of Cherry Hill School, to arrange for entrance.

The kindergarten program consists of a work period followed by a clean-up period, recess, group visit, games, rhythms, music and literature and story time.

FIRST LEGION DANCE IS SEPTEMBER 17

Sealer for Floor Arrives in Time for First Dance

The dance floor in the new American Legion Home will be all set—literally—for the first dance scheduled for Friday night, September 17. R. B. Tharp, adjutant of the Paul H. Hughey Post 26 here, said today.

The sealer which is being put on the newly sanded floor did not arrive when it was expected and for several days it was thought that the dance would have to be postponed.

The first coat of the sealer was applied Thursday and a second coat was put on Friday. When the sealer has set for three or four days, the floor will be waxed and ready for dancing, Tharp explained.

ROME SEIZED BY GERMANS AS ALLIES CAPTURE BIG NAVAL BASE AT TARANTO

The Germans are known, however, to have troops in the area north of Rome and at other points outside the capital.

Dispatches from the Swiss-Italian frontier said Nazi forces already had partly occupied the capital, refusing to consider it an open city. Swedish correspondents quoted authoritative German sources in Berlin to the same effect.

A DNB broadcast from Berlin reported that La Spezia, Italian naval base in northern Italy on the west coast, also had been seized by German troops, as well as Genoa, Italy's great northern port. The Germans also said they had taken over protection of the French Riviera, formerly garrisoned by Italians.

Swiss dispatches said that a violent cannonading on the

PLEASANT E. BURNS IS CALLED BY DEATH

Funeral Service To Be Held Sunday Afternoon

Pleasant E. Burns, 76, one of Jeffersonville's prominent colored residents for many years, died at his home there at five o'clock Thursday evening after a long illness. A heart ailment, with which he had suffered for many years, caused his death.

A native of Pike County, he came to Jeffersonville community nearly half a century ago. He engaged in farming for a short time and then opened a grocery in the village. He retired from active business, however, several years ago.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Wilbur Baker of Jeffersonville and Mrs. Charles Carr of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and a son, Earl Burns of Jeffersonville. He also leaves 18 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at St. Paul's Church and burial will be in Fairview Cemetery. The Alvin G. Little Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

periphery of Rome had been renewed, and that important contingents of German motorized troops were moving toward Como, on the lake by that name near the Swiss border, and its occupation was believed imminent.

Italians were reported clashing with the Germans in many parts of Italy, especially in the north where the Germans had virtually taken over the country. Naples, Italy's second greatest port and the heart of the southern communications system of the country, however, appeared likely to fall into Allied hands.

Action flared in all parts of the Mediterranean theater as a result of the scrambling of the Axis by Italy's surrender.

The British radio declared Venice, Turin and Florence "are now in Italian hands after street fighting," and said fighting was in progress between Italians and Germans in Haute Savoie, France, and Albania, with the Italians still holding Torana, the Albanian capital.

The German communiqué, however, declared Nazi measures against the "treachery of the Badoglio government have produced successful results practically everywhere in the Balkans, in upper Italy and the south of France," and that the bulk of Italian forces had surrendered their arms to the forces of Adolf Hitler.

The United Nations radio, disclosing the seizure of Genoa by the Germans, declared the Germans were massing their main forces in northern Italy to prepare a major battle line and urged Italian workers to engage in large-scale efforts to sabotage the enemy's effort.

"Italians! The time is short," the broadcast said. "The next seven days will be decisive. It is your task, the task of every railway worker, road worker, telegraph and telephone worker and of every Italian of every class to be ready to give his all for his country."

This suggested that a major point in Allied strategy was to sever German lines of communication in northern Italy to protect Allied operations around Naples, just as the earlier bombing assaults crippled the enemy's facilities around Naples in preparation for the invasion of the Italian toe.

She is survived by seven children. Four sons, Dennis in Dayton, Howard in Sabina, Herbert in Greenfield and four daughters, Mrs. Opal East of Marion, Mrs. Oma Fent of Washington C. H., Mrs. Chaney and Mrs. Alta Kirk of Mt. Sterling.

She is also survived by a brother, George Housman of Hartford City, Indiana and a sister, Mrs. Betty Cockrill in Montana.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 P. M., fast time at the Middleton Funeral Home in Sabina. Burial will be made in the Milledgeville Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

BLOOMINGBURG RECORDS VOTES IN POST OFFICE

Miss Victory ballots may be officially recorded at Bloomingburg Post Office, it was announced today. Post Offices in Jeffersonville and Good Hope and the banks in those two communities record votes in the race as do the banks and post office in Washington C. H.

Solicitors are to take the name of the candidate for which each bond buyer wishes to vote when the application for the bond is taken.

Votes may also be recorded by API workers who purchase bonds at the plant, which is an official issuing station.

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy more War Bonds.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT JAP WOMEN?

Life Pictured in Movie To Come Here Next Week

"To the Japanese a woman's most beautiful feature is the back of her neck. No woman from the land of the rising sun would be guilty—as are so many occidental women—of neglecting to powder or care for her throat and neck. The high oriental hair-do further focuses attention on the neckline."

"But there the admiration of natural beauty ceases, and the average Japanese woman's face is a stilted artificial mask of weird colors. Stark white liquid powder is applied as a base. A line of unpainted skin is always left between the powder and the kimono edge—a startling effect."

Thus, James R. Young, for 13 years a foreign correspondent in Japan and author of the best-seller, "Behind the Rising Sun," the picturization of which will be shown at the Fayette Theater here next week, starting Sunday, describes the women of Nippon. Continuing, the publicity bureau of RKO Radio Pictures, producer of "Behind the Rising Sun," says:

"The only cream cosmetic used is lip paste, painted in tiny rosebud fashion on the upper lip only—with a brush. Dry rouge is applied in two perfectly round circles on the cheeks and is sometimes used on the eyelids! Or a blue or black powder is used as eye-shadow. Japanese have very sparse lashes or none at all."

"An ordinary eyebrow pencil lengthens the brows, but is applied with a brush. Women shave off the fine down that sometimes appears between the brows or on the upper lip, and both men and women shave with wooden razors."

"Only Geisha girls or show people wear colored nail polish. The geisha, contrary to popular American opinion, are not ladies of questionable character. They are carefully trained conversationalists and dancers, hired for business banquets or card parties, know all important news and gossip, and are the most genuinely respected women in Japan."

"The wife is little more than a housekeeper. In fact the word for wife, Oku-san, means 'mother of husband's children.' A wife moves into her husband's household upon marriage, and his mother is mistress of the establishment. Marriages are arranged by families, and the couple may not even see each other until the eve of the ceremony. The geisha, on the other hand, may become the extra-legal wife of a powerful and wealthy politician or business man, and will continue to enjoy many of the privileges and freedoms of her previous life. Her children, though they will bear a different name, attend the same school and enjoy the same position in society as their father's children by his legal wife."

ian coast and were heading toward Allied ports.

Berlin had previously asserted that units of the long shore-bound Italian navy had "joined the German navy to continue the fight."

Unconfirmed reports reaching Madrid from the Swiss-Italian frontier said British troops, under the protection of U. S. warships, had landed at La Spezia. Other rapid-fire developments included:

1. A flurry of contradictory reports arose over the status of Italy's King Vittorio Emanuele III.

Stefani, the official Italian news agency, denied unconfirmed Swiss frontier reports and a Berlin broadcast asserting that the 73-year-old monarch had abdicated in favor of his son, Crown Prince Umberto, 39.

Berlin said the king had "resigned."

2. The United Nations radio, in a broadcast beamed to the Italian people, urged them to strike at German lines of communication and declared:

"The next seven days will be decisive."

3. German troops, moving to block a possible Allied thrust into the Balkans from southern Italy, were reported by the Hungarian news agency to have occupied Albania and the entire eastern Adriatic coast.

4. An Allied broadcast said the Germans had also occupied the big port of Genoa, on the Italian northwest coast.

5. Italian troops fleeing into neutral Switzerland said a large force of Italians encamped on the Italian side of the Mont Cenis railway tunnel near Susa, 37 miles west of Turin, were halting all incoming German rail traffic from France.

At least 2,000 Italian soldiers had already abandoned their posts in France, crossed the Swiss frontier and surrendered with their arms and baggage vehicles.

6. Madrid dispatches said fighting between German and Italian troops was erupting over a wide area from French Savoy down the entire length of the Po valley in Italy.

7. Possibly heralding action to surrender Rome without a fight, Premier Badoglio issued a communique announcing that "negotiations are under way with the commander of the German troops in the Rome zone to move these troops toward the north."

8. A Swiss broadcast declared that "Allied invasion of Albania is imminent," and asserted that "a large Allied convoy escorted by strong naval forces has been sighted in the Ionian Sea."

On the fighting front, Allied headquarters announced that strong forces of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's American 5th Army, celebrating their baptismal fire, threw the Germans back to expand their foothold in the Naples region.

"Allied troops are fanning out in all directions in the Naples area," Radio France reported, and reinforcements are pouring ashore.

Farther down the peninsula, Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British 8th Army advanced 20 miles north along the east (Adriatic) coast while other 8th Army columns swept into Pizzo on the west coast, four miles north of Vibo Valentia.

It also was announced that Allied troops had captured Venetone Island, 25 miles due west of Naples.

acres, he said.

"In general, the 1944 allotments will put all three states, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, virtually on the same basis they were a year ago, had the acreage allotment in each of the three states been planted," Kruse declared.

H. C. Ramsower, director of Ohio State University's agricultural extension service, and a member of the agricultural war board, said "we realize the federal government asked for a substantial reduction in wheat acreage, below a normal year's production, yet there are times of emergency. We who produce must also sacrifice."

County agricultural agents will encourage the farmers to supply the 1944 quota, he said.

Further opposition to the quota was expressed by M. H. Faulring, president of the Toledo board of trade.

"We believe that Ohio soft winter wheat mills should be kept going," he said. "The triple A owes us something. If we set a goal about equal to a year ago in wheat acreage, I doubt that farmers will plan to meet it. Set the goal about five percent higher and we'll hit it."

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Climax in War Within Month Predicted Even by Germans With Defeatism Increasing

German army leaders predict that war developments will reach a climax within the next four weeks.

If we wanted to be argumentative we should, of course, point out that the conflict already has turned the corner and that Herr Hitler is definitely on the way out. Maybe the Nazis would concede that in their hearts, far from Stockholm comes this amazing dispatch:

Berlin has notified the Swedish stone industry to halt quarrying granite which had been ordered for post-war construction of victory monuments and official buildings. An enormous contract for the stone was made at the start of the blitzkrieg, which long ago had the blitz knocked out of it.

Anyway, it would be easy to agree with the Hitlerite captains that another month or so may produce a situation which will enable us to see the end of the European struggle much more clearly. That length of time should clarify a number of points that will determine the speed with which the finish will come. For instance:

We must know how long it's going to take to break German resistance in Italy. The Nazis are showing grim signs of fight, and if they stick to their guns they can cause the Allies a lot of trouble and delay. However, indications are that we're not sending a boy to do a man's work, but will continue to land troops until we can annihilate the enemy. There's no present cause for anxiety.

Another month or six weeks probably will tell us what further invasions we are to get this year. We should know in that time whether the present invasion-type of bombing which the Anglo-American air fleets are doing along the French and Belgian coasts, and the full-dress invasion rehearsal just held, are forerunners of amphibious operations against western Europe or are merely part of the war of nerves and an attempt to draw German forces from the Russian Front.

We should know, too, whether Balkans are to be invaded, and just how far the rebellious little Axis satellites are prepared to go in revolt against the master gangster. Things look black for him in the Balkans, and the storm might break at any time, quite apart from Allied invasion.

In this connection the day is rapidly approaching when we shall have an answer to the war-long question of whether Turkey will send her big army to the aid of the Allies. The Turks have been leaning that way, and they are among the world's fiercest fighters.

Another month or less should give us the denouement of the unbelievable Russian offensive which continues to sweep the Germans back with a speed that threatens to produce a rout if the autumn rains don't arrive to save the invaders. Today as the Nazis pulled back towards the protection of the great Dnieper River defenses, the Red armies were within eighty miles of that line on the road to Kiev and only sixty miles away from the big bend near the southern end of the river.

One of the most important points upon which we want further light is how the German public is taking the surrender of Italy, coming as it does on top of the awful bombing they are enduring and the frightful sacrifice of blood which Hitler is pouring out on the altar of his evil ambitions. We know already that gloom stalks the fatherland.

On this issue it's interesting to note that the Italian people had sickened of Mussolini and Fascism and war long before the historic surrender.

Even more important is likely to be the striking fact that Italians have trusted the Allies—indeed welcomed them both in

COUNTY HAS 103 ACTIVE CASES TUBERCULOSIS

Seven Deaths from White Plague in Fayette County During 1942

"There are now 103 known cases of active tuberculosis in Fayette County," Warren M. Durkee, president of the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association, said today, adding "In the first half of 1943, seven new cases of tuberculosis were reported in the county. At the end of 1942, 96 Fayette Countians were suffering from active tuberculosis, 24 of which were newly discovered in 1942."

Statistics on tuberculosis in Fayette County show that in 1942 seven deaths were caused by the disease as contrasted with eight in 1941. However, the 24 new cases discovered in the county during 1942 exceeded by seven the 17 reported in 1941.

The over-all state picture shows that 5,987 new cases were discovered during 1942, an increase over new cases reported in 1941. There is an encouraging aspect of the increasing cases, according to the Ohio Public Health Association, because it means that many unsuspected cases are being discovered and treated. Treatment started in the early stages of the disease improve the victim's chances of recovery.

Death toll in Ohio from tuberculosis in 1942 was 2,856—a figure lower than that of 1941. Almost 60,000 persons in the nation died last year from the disease. It still leads all others as a cause of death in the most productive period of life, the ages between 15 and 45 years.

The National Tuberculosis Association writes: "It is one of the greatest wasters of productive manpower, and therefore, a wartime saboteur. It is evident that there is no cause for rejoicing in declining death rates as long as tuberculosis remains a major health problem. The national loss from tuberculosis is staggering. Your community contributed its share whether it recorded one or 1000 tuberculosis deaths."

13 BUS DRIVERS NOW HAVE CERTIFICATES

To Be Granted 29 Others After Physical Check-up

School bus drivers certificates have been issued to 13 of the 42 drivers in the county school system, W. J. Hilty, county superintendent of schools, said today. Each driver must present a physician's certificate of a complete physical examination before certificates can be granted, he explained.

Those to whom certificates have been granted are Albert Warner, Union Rural; Dean Britton, Wayne Rural; Orville Moats, Paint Rural; Elmo Wilson, Union Rural; Frank E. Baughn, Jasper Village; Floyd H. Hornbeck, Madison Rural; Howard M. Clark, Madison Rural; Charles Minshall, Union Rural; Glenn Hidy, Union Rural; Harry West, Union Rural; Cleon Clyde Coe, Paint Rural; and Jasper Cox, Madison Rural.

A WORD OF WARNING

The gratifying news regarding the unconditional surrender of Italy and the progress made by the United Nations in other theatres of war, makes a great many people happy but it also carries a serious danger for this and other nations battling the Axis, if we are not all careful to make sure that our jubilation doesn't turn sour through a letup of effort on our part in carrying through to the finish.

The people of the United Nations after years of war, losses in men and material, early setbacks and the heavy drain on finances which war always brings have been eager for good news. The fall of Italy probably means the beginning of the end for the Axis powers, but any over-confidence and slip on our part now easily could mean the undoing of much of the steady progress which our armies, navies and airpower have accomplished.

Let there be no stop. We must "keep on keeping on" until there is no question as to final, definite and decisive triumph.

CALL A LAWYER, MAYBE A DOCTOR

The average American is inclined to regard the complaints of businessmen about governmental interference as exaggerated. But the average American would be shocked if he had to manage a business these days. He would quickly discover that American enterprise has become a legalistic paradise. Orders are issued from Washington in a daily stream and pity the poor businessman who does not keep up.

Hundreds of orders were issued this past week, as usual. There was one on malted grains. WPB revoked order M-288 relating to malted grains and malt syrup, because it was superseded by order No. 66 of the food distribution administration. Miss Jones, call the lawyer.

Then there was one on CMP, whatever that means. The WPB announced simply that use of the quarterly identification symbol in connection with the placement of orders under CMP procedure has been clarified through the issue of Interpretation 14 of CMP regulation 1. Tell him to hurry, Miss Jones.

Those are just samples. There were changes in PRC P-98-C; in order L-257; in conservation T1; in MPR 444, and in ration order 13, among other things.

One lawyer could not possibly keep up with all this. Perhaps, Miss Jones, you had better send for a half dozen.

MORE BABY BUGGIES

Babies get a break. There will be 59,000 baby carriages over the quota originally set for the third quarter of the year.

Before the war the baby carriage business was in a slump. Infants took their airings in the family car, and their parents saved carriage money. Now that rationing boards look askance on gas spent to take the baby riding, the older vehicle is coming back.

Presumably babies who have been used to automobiles will not utter any thoroughly medicated opinion as to the

Flashes of Life

U. S. Attacks the Big End Wolf
ALEXANDRIA, La.—The government is helping Rapiders Parish county farmers keep the wolf from the door these days.

Wolves killed so many young calves, pigs and hogs that the Parish police jury worked out a project with the Federal Interior Department of the sharing expenses of a trapping expert to deal with the animals.

Several other Louisiana parishes have had to take steps to thin out roaming wolf packs.

Don't try to argue your way out of it when you are caught in an error. Well-mannered people acknowledge that they, too, can err, and try not to do so again.

VETERANS WANT ACTION

San Diego Veterans of Foreign Wars urge early courtmartial of Admiral Kimmel and Lieut. Gen. Short on charges of gross negligence arising out of the Pearl Harbor disaster when they were in command there.

We should all like to see such action, including, perhaps, the two potential defendants. But if the action were pressed now it would have to be star chamber, to protect military secrets—and the public, the administration and Kimmel and Short are entitled to an open trial.

The V.F.W. fears that the statute of limitations will make the two commanders immune unless they are tried before Dec. 7, 1944. Under common law that is not true, provided charges are filed before the statute runs. It must be assumed that Washington will protect the public's rights by preferring charges, even though the actual trial has to be deferred.

Among the occupational changes expected soon is Adolf Hitler's switch from paper-hanging to crepe hanging.

School boys who have been helping to harvest the apple crop should look to the future and save one for teacher.

Baby chicks that soon will grow up and lay eggs have a lot of nerve saying "Cheep, cheep!"

After all these years there finally is some respect for hash—thanks to rationing.

The biggest mistake in life is to constantly fear you'll make one.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Observers returning from the war fronts say that the question most asked by the American fighting men is "What's cooking for us when we come marching home?"

It isn't that they're selfish or want anything handed them on a silver platter, these observers say, it's just that they want to be sure they'll get a slice of those Four Freedoms they are sweating and bleeding for. And according to the men who have known them best, they consider most important the freedom to work and earn a decent living for the missus and the kids.

This much assurance can be given them right now: If all or part of the war ended tomorrow, they would find the program of demobilization, rehabilitation and reemployment already functioning.

A survey discloses that these agencies and organizations are operating:

(1). The Reemployment Division of Selective Service, whose chief is Col. Lewis Sanders. This division in time will have one committee member on every Selective Service local board to be 20 or 30 men to be demobilized. It will be their duty, briefly, to see that the soldiers gets his old job back and that all rights and benefits specified under the Selective Service law are allowed him. If his job isn't there or he doesn't want it, the committee member will direct him to the other channels of employment.

(2). The Veterans Employment Division of the U. S. Employment Service, the clearing house and placement agency for all veterans who want jobs.

(3). The Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the Veterans administration, whose duty it already is to see that no veterans with any disability go without employment for lack of training or education.

(4). The Vocational Education division of the U. S. Office of Education, which in cooperation with state vocational education departments in the last three years, has trained more than 7,000,000 war workers and has a program this year for training 50,000 physically handicapped.

(5). The Red Cross, which will be the final buffer in hardship first when the child is nine months old, and repeated by a stimulating dose at five or six years. I presume more human beings are protected against diphtheria in the United States today than against smallpox.

The result has been to wipe diphtheria practically off the continent of North America. In fact, this result has been so completely accomplished that it constitutes a brake on the continued use of the preventive measures. A whole generation has grown up who do not realize what the horrors of diphtheria are. Our young parents today are of that generation. They are likely to say that all this talk about the danger of diphtheria is scare talk, that they never saw or heard of a case of diphtheria, so why should they submit their nine-months-old baby to this procedure?

Such a viewpoint is, as I say, perfectly natural under the circumstances. It takes imagination to remember that diphtheria used to visit a neighborhood and within a week five or six funerals with the little caskets of children three to ten years old would make its visitation forever memorable. Where infectious diseases hide when they are no longer epidemic, I don't know and nobody does. But we know they do and if it were not for our vigilance against typhoid fever, smallpox and diphtheria, they would again creep out of their minute hiding places and begin again their devastation. History can be summoned to prove that over and over again.

SYNOPSIS

ADAM NORTH, young bachelor who recently converted an old Linville buggy factory into a war plant, becomes a "fill-in" stand-by for the town's party givers, among them being

SUSAN POTTER, whose husband, Bill, has lately been breaking evening dates to "negotiate" a real estate deal with ALICIA CARTER, a wily, flirtatious widow, Adam, unknowingly, is loved by his secretary.

RUTH MOOREHOUSE, who at present is having difficulty dissuading the affections of

JACK VINTON, a mechanic in the plant, Adam, not being aware of Ruth's feelings, is just becoming intrigued with

BRENDA LEIGH, who is now enjoying an extended vacation in Linville, which she left several years ago to launch a journalistic career in New York City.

CHAPTER SIX

THE SOUND of an automobile coming up the drive broke the beauty hint conversation between Brenda and Susan. They both hurried to the window, and were just in time to see Adam North getting out of his roadster.

"Well, what on earth is he doing out here?" Susan said.

"I don't know," Brenda replied. "Come on, let's go ask him."

They ran down the steps and out to the front door.

"Oh, so it's you girls!" Adam said. "I saw smoke coming from the chimney, and thought maybe tramps were camping in the house." Then he stopped suddenly and stared at Susan. "For crying out loud!" he said.

"What's the matter?" said Susan.

"You!" said Adam. "What's happened to you?"

"I'm wearing my hair a new way."

"It's swell!" Adam complimented. "Boy, it certainly does things to you."

"By the way," Brenda cut in, "what are you doing out here in the middle of the day?"

"I often take a little ride out into the country at lunch time," Adam replied. "It sort of clears out my brain. I can work better when I get back to the factory."

"I see. I thought perhaps you were out to make plans about remodeling my old house."

"I'd like to make plans of that sort," Adam smiled. "But you say you're not going to sell."

"No, I'm not. After being out here with Susan, cooking in the old kitchen, and going over the house, I know I can never part with it!"

"Too bad. But I'll shop around a bit for another old house to remodel."

"Maybe Bill can help you," said Susan. "He knows every old house for miles around."

"Perhaps you can buy Alicia Carter's house," said Brenda. "She is planning to sell."

"I know, but Bill has ideas for turning her place into a sort of center for the factory workers," said Adam. He turned to Susan.

"Speaking of the factory, how about dropping in some day soon and having a look at the cafeteria? I have a cook and some good help, but I'm afraid they don't know much about balanced menus."

"Do they have to be balanced?" asked Brenda.

"They should be. The right sort of food for helping people turn out better work. Not too much heavy stuff, and yet things that are strengthening."

"Like the proper sorts of salads," said Susan, interested. "And stew. I know—I fix them for Bill. He thrives on them, and yet doesn't get fat."

"The idea exactly!" said Adam. "I've been thinking of sending away for a young woman to come and take charge for a time, one of those very modern women well up on the subject of dietetics. I thought she could make a study of the cafeteria and get it started along scientific lines."

"But can you make workers eat what they don't like?" Brenda wanted to know.

"I don't mean serve things they don't like," Adam said. "I mean—"

"Of course he doesn't mean that," said Susan. "The proper sort of food, a well-balanced diet, doesn't have to consist of things that don't taste good. I know a lot of things, inexpensive to make, that are terribly good, and—"

"Say, I have an idea!" exclaimed Adam. "Why don't you come down and take charge of the cafeteria for a time?"

"You mean come down and actually work in the cafeteria?"

"Yes," said Adam. "I'll pay you a salary, the same as I would a professional. And I'd much rather have you there. So would Sam, the cook, and the others. You're a native of Linville and they'll be much more apt to listen to you than to some woman from off somewhere."

"Oh, but I couldn't. What would happen to my home?"

"You could get a maid."

"I know, but—" Susan stopped short. She was thinking. Maybe if Bill Potter found out that she was capable of holding down a job, that she might even do it, he'd stop spending so much time away from home. "It sounds fascinating," she went on presently. "I do know foods—since my Aunt Martha was the best cook in Linville county."

"Then think it over, Susan—seriously, I mean," said Adam. "And let me know. I have a feeling we could work it out swell together."

Brenda said nothing. Although she had been urging Susan to change if she wanted to hold onto

Army of 500,000 (double the 1939 strength) would be enough.

Nearly every country in Europe and South America had some form of compulsory military service before the war. Switzerland's system offers an example of how a small army can be expanded rapidly. All men from 18 to 60 are subject to between 88 and 102 days of military training. There are few exceptions and those excused or rejected pay certain taxes in lieu of service.

After the first year's service, the men are called up for 11 days annually for seven years, then go on the reserves.

Post War Compulsory Military Training

By ROBERT M. FARRINGTON

A strong indication of what kind of a world we expect to live in after the war should pop out of the discussion over compulsory military training in peacetime.

Representative Andrew J. May (D-Ky.) has promised to introduce a bill when Congress reconvenes this month requiring every able-bodied male between 17 and 21 to take a year's military training.

The fate of such a bill would attract great interest both here and abroad as unmistakable evidence of whether the United States intends to be prepared to fight again if necessary or is going to lapse into the pacifist role she adopted after the last war.

Following the Armistice in 1918, similar bills were prepared but strong pacifist sentiment sweeping the country foredoomed them to failure. With the war won and 3,000 miles of ocean protecting us from Europe's problems, people felt a big Army was unnecessary, that the peace was permanent.

Super-bombers that can fly half a load of bombs across the Atlantic and return without refueling are almost here, General Arnold has revealed, and the protection from aggression once afforded by our oceanmoat has been blasted forever by their development.

In the peace that will follow this war, Americans will have to decide whether to strip down their military machine and build another should war come again, or maintain some part of that machine so as not to be caught napping in case of another sneak attack such as Pearl Harbor.

Since it has been proven that, given the time, America can build a mighty and invincible Army, future wars would very likely start with sudden, devastating and unexpected enemy attacks from the air on our key cities so as to paralyze our effort before it began.

About 1,000,000 youths a year would have to take military training as soon as they left high school, under May's plan. They would be in the Army a year, but could keep up their studies so as to go right into college without difficulty when their time was up.

Under this program a reserve of 10,000,000 men could be built up in 10 or 15 years, to be quickly mobilized for service if necessary.

This reserve would do away with the alternative of a huge standing Army which has never appealed to unilateralistic America. May believes that a regular

Army of 500,000 (double the 1939 strength) would be enough.

ARTHUR MADDUX IS TO ENLARGE HIS RESTAURANT

Doubled Patronage Attributed In Large Measure To War Conditions

Plans for enlarging his restaurant on North Fayette Street today were being put into definite form by Arthur Maddux, but he admitted there were many problems ahead, most of which were attributable to the war.

Maddux said he had leased the ground floor room recently vacated by the Economy Furniture Co. in the Dunn Building, adjoining his restaurant, and that he planned to cut an archway between the two to connect them. He plans to use only half of the new room, however, and expects to divide it with a partition. The other half is to be sub-let possibly for a small store.

Maddux estimated the patronage of his restaurant has "at least doubled" in the last two years. He attributed the increase primarily to the influx of war workers from other communities which has increased the city's population, to the growing number of families who are "taking their meals out" because wives and mothers are in war work and don't have time to spend in the kitchen for three meals a day, to the greater number of older children who eat at restaurants during school months and the closing of other restaurants.

Maddux said he hoped to open the dining room of his restaurant "about the first of next month," but added much depended on his ability to get the materials for remodeling and equipping it.

For months, especially at noon, patrons have crowded into the restaurant and stood in line to wait for seats at both the tables and counter. Maddux said this was not the kind of service he wanted to give and that when the opportunity arose for him to expand he felt obligated to accept it.

The new room is to be used as a dining room only and will be closed except at stated meal times, under present plans. Short orders will be served in the part now in use. No additional kitchen facilities will be needed, Maddux said, as he explained there was plenty of room on the second floor.

Maddux does not expect everything to progress as smoothly now as it would in normal times, but he declared "right now I'm busy getting equipment—and I think I have it lined up already—and I'll worry about the help problem later when I come to it."

PLEADS INNOCENT TO THEFT CHARGE

Mordica Payton, implicated in theft of a gasoline motor from Wilbur Allemang, when his nephew, Herman Payton, juvenile, was picked up by Sheriff W. H. Ichniower, was arraigned in Justice George Worrell's court in connection with the charge and pleaded innocent.

He was held to the grand jury with bond fixed at $100 which he failed to furnish.

In the meantime Judge Otis B. Core is still considering the case of Herman Payton, who pleaded guilty to the same charge to which his uncle pleaded innocent.

TRUCKS STAND FOR HOURS PILED WITH CORN — WAITING BECAUSE MORE HELP NEEDED

Picture 20 trucks, piled high with corn, lined up for two blocks. Visualize the drivers sprawled out in the seats asleep, huddled in splashes of shade or sitting in nearby front lawns—just waiting.

Some of them wait four or five hours before their loads of corn can be accommodated at canning factories. Others make time pass more quickly by pitching in at the factory.

The factories themselves are working as fast as they can. Corn tumbles through the huskers, travels over the sorting belt, zips through the machine where the kernels are cut off the cob and pours into the cans which whirl away to be capped and labelled.

All the countless steps needed to ship the corn to the armed forces are being taken as fast as is possible now with the personnel at the factories far below requirements.

Some business men and women here in town are leaving home immediately after snatching a bite of supper and going to factories to help out a bit—and it's a mighty big bit, too. Among them are George Pensyl, Charles Orr, Otto Reno, Gilbert Hook and Glenn Flint and Mrs. Howard Winner and Mrs. Paul Haines who clerk at Penney's during the day, work at a factory at night from 6 o'clock until midnight. The men are working the swing shift too.

The buildings on these farms are being repaired and remodelled.

OHIO FARMERS INDEMNITY COMPANY

FARMERS TO PAY INCOME TAX ON DECEMBER 15

If 80 Per Cent of Gross Income Derived from Farming, Tax To Be Paid

If at least 80 percent of a farmer's estimated gross income is derived from farming activities, he must file a declaration of estimated income and victory tax on or before December 15, 1943 and must pay, at that time, the entire unpaid balance of the estimated tax for 1943, S. W. Fennig, internal revenue representative here, announced today.

A farmer may, however, file on September 15, if he wishes to pay his estimated tax in two installments—September 15 and December 15, Fennig continued.

"It is recognized that farmers would have difficulty in estimating their income in advance for the year," Fennig said, continuing: "Also in many cases the farmer's income is chiefly from the marketing of a single crop once a year. Therefore, farmers who come within the above classification are permitted to wait until December 15 before filing a declaration and paying their current liability. Also they are allowed a 33 and one-third percent tolerance on under payments before the 6 percent interest penalty applies," he explained.

To be classed as a farmer, the taxpayer must be actively engaged in the operation of a farm. This would not include the owner of a farm who receives a stipulated annual rental nor would it include the manager of a farm who receives a stipulated salary for his services. It also does not include labor on a farm, even though all labor is agricultural labor. It does include both the owner and the tenant where the farm is rented on shares. Fennig pointed out and it includes farm managers if the compensation is based in whole or in part on production.

STATE HIGHWAY MEN HELP IN CANNERIES

Eleven Work in Mt. Sterling, Seven at Fayette Co. Here

Eleven men regularly employed by the State Highway Department here are now working at night in the St. Mary's canning factory at Mt. Sterling on a modified lend-lease plan, Frank Cook, of the highway department announced today.

The men work at night in the factory helping with the corn pack. In addition to these 11 men, seven others who work by day with the department work from 6 till 10:30 P. M. at the Fayette plant here in Washington C. H.

Those working in the Mt. Sterling factory are O. C. Denney, John W. Gibson, Robert Elliott, Arthur Grimm, Martin Lininger, Charles Marine, Bert Slavens, Burley Crouse, Leslie G. Sollars, John Shiller and Carey Maddux. Fayette "swing-shifters" are Wiley Arnett, Roy Hearn, Floyd Thompson, Otis Cornell, Victor Smith, Walter Stambaugh and Milt Penwell.

The 11 men at the Mt. Sterling plant have been working there since Monday and may be there at least a week more if not longer, Cook said.

AMERICANS ARE LUCKY, SOLDIER IN SICILY SAYS

Pvt. James Dowler Writes Father Here That He Has Seen Real Poverty

"I often wonder how you people at home take news like 'Sicily has been taken,'" wrote Pvt. James E. Dowler to his father, Floyd Dowler, recently. Dowler lives at 216 Mulberry Street.

"I arrived here July 31 and things happened so fast that we hardly knew what was what. Those Jerries sure can run backwards fast."

"We landed at Palermo. It's a beautiful city of about 400,000 population. I can't say that I like these people but I do feel sorry for them. When we came in they were starving and a lot of them had nowhere to go. Over here I've seen real poverty. An American doesn't know how lucky he is to be an American because he's free."

"If some people back home could see what we've seen, there would be no strikes or anything else to slow up work and production. It's h— over here. Our voyage was peaceful but before we landed Jerry gave us a visit. Well, I'm still here and so are my buddies."

Pvt. Dowler enlisted in the army two years ago this month and has been overseas since December 14. His father said he took part in the battle of Tunisia and in the capture of Bizerte.

Anna Louise Ritenour Marries Sergeant Richard McKnight on Wednesday

Miss Anna Louise Ritenour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Ritenour, near Jamestown, and Staff Sgt. Charles Richard McKnight, Oceanside, Calif., were united in marriage in a ceremony performed in the Church of Christ, Grape Grove, Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

The double ring service was read by Rev. Carl Matthews, Covington, Ky., at an altar decorated with palms, baskets of white gladioli and asters, and seven-branch candelabra. Miss Harriet Reeder, pianist, played several selections before and during the ceremony. Susan Ritenour, sister of the bride, lighted the tapers at the altar preceding the service.

Miss Elizabeth Anderson, Cedarville, attended the bride as maid of honor and was attired in a street-length dress of blue crepe with navy blue accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

The bride's frock was of egg-shell crepe and she wore brown accessories. Her corsage was also of Talisman roses.

Mr. William McKnight, Madeira, O., brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, attended by fifty guests. The dining room table was decorated with asters and white tapers. Bouquets of garden flowers were arranged throughout the rooms of the Ritenour home. After the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip and will be gone a week. Sgt. McKnight will report to Oceanside and Mrs. McKnight will join him in November.

Mrs. McKnight is a graduate of Ross High School and was a student at Cedarville College two years. She is a graduate nurse of the school of nursing at Christ Hospital, Cincinnati. Sgt. McKnight attended Cedarville College and was a teacher in Mason, O., previous to entering service. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McKnight, Madeira, O.

As it was Mrs. Stewardson's natal anniversary, several members remembered her with lovely gifts, for which she made sweet response.

PVT. HOPPES NOW IN AFRICAN HOSPITAL

Flew from Sicily To Recover From Wound

Pvt. Merrill Hoppes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hoppes of Sabina, is now in a base hospital somewhere in Africa recovering from wounds received when a land mine exploded and hit him in the abdomen. Mrs. Hoppes received the first letter written by her son since he was wounded, Thursday.

He said, in the letter, that he was moved by plane from the Sicilian hospital where he had been treated to another hospital in Africa for complete recovery. "It looks like my wound is going to heal all right," he assured Mrs. Hoppes.

She had received a letter from Hoppes written by a chaplain in the Sicilian hospital telling her of being hurt on August 5.

The letter which Pvt. Hoppes himself wrote, was dated August 25.

Pvt. Hoppes has been overseas since February 8 and participated in the Tunisian campaign and the invasion of Sicily on July 10. After he was wounded, he stayed in Sicily for two weeks before being removed to Africa.

Back the Attack with War Bonds

Will The Fall Of Italy Mean A Home Front Defeat?

The fall of Italy is glorious news -- if we consider it was the end of round one instead of the finish of the fight.

It could mean a home front defeat -- if Americans start pulling their punches. It could mean good news to our two major enemies -- if anybody takes it as a signal to slow up, let down, or quit backing the war with everything they've got.

As a matter of fact, the long, hard march to Berlin and Tokyo has just begun. If you think it will be easy, if you think we can win this fight with one hand -- then you are wrong, dangerously wrong.

Before the last shot is fired, a lot of lives are going to be lost and a lot of billions spent. The more American dollars that go into superior equipment, the less American blood is going to redden foreign soil.

It cost 46 million dollars to lay Hamburg low. It cost another 300 million to train, equip and transport the crews and ready everything for the task. And Hamburg is just one enemy city.

War Bonds must provide much of the money for the bitter struggle yet ahead. YOU -- not the fellow next door -- have a personal responsibility to dig deeper than is pleasant and convenient to make the Third War Loan a success.

It will be a success only if every American opens his heart and his pocket and decides to back the attack.

Good Attendance Expected At WHS Football Games

Assuming that the 1943 Blue Lion team performs in a comparable fashion to last year's South Central champions, local football should chalk up some encouraging attendance figures, according to W. F. Rettig, principal of Washington High School.

A look at the schedule reveals that five games are booked for Gardner Park, all of them to be played under the lights. Of these five, Wilmington, as a Dad's Day attraction, and Hillsboro, Homecoming opponent, promise to be good drawing cards in league competition. Chillicothe will probably bring out the fans, especially if the Blue Lions are able to get off to a good start.

The opening game against Springfield Central Catholic should provide a reasonably good index as to early season enthusiasm on the part of the fans.

Portsmouth East is the other home attraction.

Last year's Greenfield game drew the largest home crowd when 2500 paid admissions were rung up. The Blue Lions will, of course, meet their Highland County opponents in Greenfield this year. Record books show that 9283 adult and student admissions were sold for the five games played here last year.

It's a reasonably good bet that this year's attendance will match or even better last year's figures. With more people employed in defense plants around Washington and with less gasoline to take in out-of-town events it is expected that attendance will be good for the season.

The change back to slow time will probably be a bit confusing to opponents coming here from cities where fast time is still in use. Columbus and Cincinnati newspapers expecting reports on the results of the home games will likewise be pressed for time due to the difference in time. All home games will start at 8:15 (slow time), according to Mr. Rettig.

Colorful eight-page programs containing information on both teams and coaching staffs will be sold for a nickel instead of the smaller program that was handed out free in the past. A special cover, done in multiple color, has been designed for each home game. Complete rosters of players with weights, positions and other data will also be included.

Single admissions will continue the same as last year (44c including tax). Season tickets are available for $2.00.

-Spying- On Sports By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Elly Vines, probably the only athlete versatile enough to be a well-paid professional both in tennis and golf, laid the grounds for a good argument the other day by naming golf as the game he likes better.

"It's a more socializable game," Vines explained. "Tennis is personal combat and you can do things when you hit the ball that will throw the other fellow's game way off. In golf if the other fellow shoots the first nine in 30, you just have to take it."

Seaman Morris Siegel, who gets plenty of time to think at his unnamed post, recalls how the Dodgers nearly got outfielder Luis Olmo all for free a few years ago.

"I seems that the Richmond Colts sent Olmo his 1940 contract but he sailed from Puerto Rico before it arrived."

Somehow the Dodgers learned that he wasn't signed and Branch Rickey, Jr., met the boat and led Luis away to a Brooklyn farm club's camp.

Owner Eddie Moers of Richmond finally located his missing Puerto Rican and, by proving that he had mailed the contract before the deadline, got him back again.

So when Brooklyn finally purchased Olmo last winter he cost $10,000.

Don't go down too heavily on Muehlenberg against Yale tomorrow. The Mules have a lot of V-12's, but most of them come from colleges of about the same size — but keep your eye on that Rochester U. outfit. They left a couple of regulars at home the other day and then scrimmaged on even terms with Mal Stevens' Sampson Naval Station team.

Soldiers in Iceland say their commanding officer, Major Gen. Williams S. Key, rates a flock of geese. Although the Jacks beat the Racers in the softball title series, the general decided the teams were so evenly matched that both rated the trip to England promised the winners.

Note to grid scouts: Not one of the players that the Iowa Seahawks will sent against Minnesota at the end of this season has even entered the pre-flight school yet.

Room and Board

Coaches Greasy Neale and Walter Kiesling probably thought they were being pretty tough on their Philadelphia Eagles grid squad when they ordered an 8 A. M. scrimmage the other day — but the clerk at their hotel forgot to call the coaches until nearly nine.

So by the time Greasy and Walt turned up, the players already were working out under Bill Hewitt and Vic Sears and were already with "if it happens again it'll cost ya plenty."

COLLEGE FOOTBALL ALL SET

By DAVE HOFF
CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The college all-star game already has opened the midwest football season so it comes as no shock that tomorrow, September 11, the collegiate campaign gets under way in earnest with Illinois and Camp Grant starting things off at Champaign.

On top of that, Great Lakes and Fort Riley (Kas.) will make it a solid week end by clashing Sunday at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, although it will be another week before most of the guns in the Big Ten go into action.

The following Saturday will see the Seahawks, Indiana, Michigan, Purdue, Wisconsin and Marquette in action, with Iowa, Minnesota, Northwestern, Ohio State and Notre Dame waiting until September 25.

Around the Big Ten practice fields, Iowa's Seahawks are elated over three newcomers, Frank Mazzicki of Boston College and the Chicago Bears, Jimmy Smith of Illinois and Nick Kerasiotis of St. Ambrose.

Freshman Bob Hoernschmeyer was the man with the ball as Indiana worked on throwing passes.

Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern has converted two quarterbacks and an end into guards to back up regulars, Alex Kapter and Johnny Gent. Elroy Hirsch, Bill Daley, Bob Wiese and Capt. Paul White made up a Michigan backfield that had eyes popping during a long offensive drill.

Double Bill Next Sunday For Sabina

Sabina baseball fans today were licking their chops as they looked forward to a doubleheader Sunday at Recreation Park.

Not only will they get two games in one afternoon, but they will get to see the "rubber" battle between the Dayton Waldorfs and the Sabina Bees as the feature attraction.

The Waldorfs are "loading up" for the game, Tobe Wical, the Sabina boss said. His statement was based on a letter from Claude Sheppard, the manager of the Dayton team, in which he wrote that such players as "Speedy" Lloyd who formerly played with the Kansas City Monarchs; "Lefty" Fox, the flashy first baseman, once voted the best in Dayton and "Lefty" Early, former pitching mate of Satchel Page, acknowledged to have been the greatest colored baseball star.

Sabina is to be represented by its regular team, barring any late changes in the lineup. Lyttrell and Page will make up the battery.

The preliminary of the double bill is to be a game between the Sabina Bees and the Fayette All-Stars.

Indians Hunt Brewers at Top Of AA Scramble

(By The Associated Press)
The Milwaukee Brewers' hopes of capturing the American Association pennant continue to be haunted by the Indianapolis Indians, although the threat of the Columbus Red Birds is becoming just a memory.

Columbus faded four and one-half games behind the leaders last night by dropping a 14-10 slugfest to Toledo's Mud Hens. But the Tribe inched within a half game of the idle Brewers by snagging a 12-3 victory from Louisville.

The St. Paul-Minneapolis game was postponed and Kansas City, like Milwaukee, was idle.

Upward Surge of Dodgers One of Year's Big Comebacks

By JUDSON BAILEY
(By The Associated Press)
The National League home-stretch looks strange this year without a race—with the St. Louis Cardinals in front by 15 games and soon to clinch their second successive pennant—but the Brooklyn Dodgers are showing that it might have been a different story if they had not faltered in midsummer.

The Dodgers' rebellion in July, and the conditions that led up to it, may not have cost Brooklyn a pennant. It is doubtful whether they could have beaten the Cardinals anyway. But apparently it did rob the senior circuit of its customary close competition through the closing weeks.

After Branch Rickey ripped the club apart, it lost 10 straight games and 19 out of 24. But since the Dodgers found themselves again with new blood in mid-August they have been showing up the rest of the league.

Recently they went spinning on a 10-game winning streak and they have won 16 out of their

Double Bill Next Sunday For Sabina

Sabina baseball fans today were licking their chops as they looked forward to a doubleheader Sunday at Recreation Park.

Not only will they get two games in one afternoon, but they will get to see the "rubber" battle between the Dayton Waldorfs and the Sabina Bees as the feature attraction.

The Waldorfs are "loading up" for the game, Tobe Wical, the Sabina boss said. His statement was based on a letter from Claude Sheppard, the manager of the Dayton team, in which he wrote that such players as "Speedy" Lloyd who formerly played with the Kansas City Monarchs; "Lefty" Fox, the flashy first baseman, once voted the best in Dayton and "Lefty" Early, former pitching mate of Satchel Page, acknowledged to have been the greatest colored baseball star.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

Stocks, led by department stores, again were the most popular in today's market as thoughts of bigger Allied victories in Europe percolated.

Buying was much less urgent, however, than in the preceding fastest session for more than a month. Irregularly higher tendencies prevailed at the opening, armament shares tried for another come-back but failed to attract much of a following. Gains of fractions to a point or so were in the majority near the fourth hour, with dealings rather slack.

general trade fairly active, steady to strong with good and choice steers and canner and cutter cows showing most strength. Four loads 1160-1275 lb. average choice steers $16.50 (the top bulk $14.50-$16.50; heifers very scarce, best $15.50; beef cows slow at $16.00 upward few above $12.00, but canner and cutters in brisk demand at $7.25-$8.50; bulls firm, weighty sausage offerings at $13.50, vealers steady at $15.00-$16.00; stock cattle slow, steady.

API GOAL FOR 3RD WAR LOAN $100 A WORKER

1,300 in Defense Plant Hear Talks Over Loud Speakers In War Factory

"There's one down and two to go," F. E. Hill, chairman of the Fayette County War Finance committee, told API workers in each of the three 30 minute talks over a loud speaker system on the opening day of the Third War Loan drive. Byron Laymon, treasurer of API from the Detroit office and Charles Dunton, head of the personnel office at the plant here also participated in the series.

"You know that in any baseball game that one out is not enough to win," Hill continued, saying, "Italy's surrender doesn't mean that the war is over—there's still Germany and Japan to defeat." Hill reminded the workers that the servicemen were finding it no picnic—"such as all of you enjoyed Sunday"—to fight on the many battle fronts of this war.

At the beginning of three shifts, starting Wednesday night at 8:15 P. M. and again at 12:15 A. M. and 12:15 P. M. Thursday, the three men spoke to the 1300 men and women working in the defense plant.

Hill pointed out that the volume of bond sales from API should go far in helping Fayette County reach its quota of $1,018,000. "We didn't have any API here in September of 1918 when the county sold $1,118,000 in bonds—and bank deposits were only half what they are now at that time," He emphasized that with the bonds bought at API the non-bank quota should be attained.

Laymon set the company goal during the drive at at least one $100 bond for each of the 1300 workers. "We want to be able to send Secretary Morgenthau a telegram at the end of the drive telling him that every worker in API put $100 into War Bonds during the Third War Loan drive," he said.

Dunton emphasized to the workers that it wasn't an obligation but an honor to be able to buy the bonds which will help shorten the war.

No report of Thursday's sales—the first day in the Third War Loan drive here—has yet been made because banks closed at noon on Thursday. J. Roush Burton, president of the First National Bank and sales recorder of the Fayette County War Finance committee, explained today.

He said that a comprehensive report of sales in the county could be made Friday night but that such a report was impossible now because the sales records of the banks have not been turned in for Thursday since their doors closed at noon.

WATER COMPANY NOT USING AUXILIARY NOW

First Time in Number of Years Water Abundant

This has been one season when it has not been necessary for the Ohio Water Service Company to draw on its auxiliary pumping plant east of the city, to obtain a supply of water due to drought.

Throughout the season the supply of water has been adequate and at no time has Paint Creek been dry, so that the dug wells could be utilized to help furnish the water supply.

Incidentally, with the canning plants operating and the API using considerable water, pumping at the main plant of the water company has been running high.

DRIVER DRAWS $56.20; IS HELD FOR PAYMENT

Herschel Matson, New Holland, picked up by the night police and listed on a charge of driving while intoxicated, was fined $50 and costs, or $56.20 in all, in Judge S. A. Murry's court, Friday.

Unable to make payment at the time he was remanded back to jail until the amount could be raised.

Two women picked up for investigation, Thursday night, were ordered out of the city with instructions to stay out.

D. T. & I. BALKS ON CHANGE OF TRESTLE HERE

B. & O. To Eliminate Small Trestle in Line With East Street

At a meeting between R. C. Henderson, B. & O. engineer of the Toledo Division, and R. Lemley, engineer of Maintenance of Way of the D. T. & I. Railroad, with City Manager Edwin Ducey and others, Thursday afternoon, the D. T. & I. engineer refused to change any of the present trestle-work at Paint Creek near the Fayette Canning Company plant, and the B. & O. engineer announced to eliminate the 30 feet of trestle-work on its line at the same place.

Engineer Lemley stated that the present structure of his road is good for many years of additional service and that labor shortage at the present time prohibits any work that is not absolutely necessary.

The B. & O. engineer stated that the fill will be made gradually, and that two 24 inch drains will be placed under the road at that point to furnish proper drainage.

The fill will not interfere with the flow of Paint Creek as the stream channel is west of the fill.

The fill in a general way, paves the way further for the eventual extension of East Street across Paint Creek, as the fill is virtually complete on the east side, and partly made on the west side.

BIBLE PRESENTATION PLANNED SUNDAY

Purchase by Congregation To Get Recognition

New Bibles purchased by the congregation of the First Baptist Church will be presented by the pastor, Rev. H. B. Twining, at the church worship service Sunday morning.

A large pulpit Bible, bound in black leather, now on the pulpit and 12 other Bibles, also bound in black leather, will be dedicated. The dozen small Bibles are of a size that will slip easily into hymn book racks on the backs of the pews. At present they are in the lecture room of the church but they will be used by various Sunday School classes and during prayer meetings, Rev. Twining explained.

He added that the congregation hoped to purchase more of the small size Bibles later in the year.

The service, not yet definitely worked out, probably will consist in part of a responsive reading by the congregation.

FLIP OF COIN TO BREAK LEGION ELECTION TIE

Three Men Tie for Two Posts In Executive Committee Elections Thursday

A flip of a coin will decide which two of the three men tied for the ninth and tenth positions will take seats on the executive committee of the Paul H. Hughey Post 25 of the American Legion here. The decisive flip will be made the first of next week, R. B. Tharp, the post adjutant said the day after the election.

Of the 20 candidates, eight were elected to fill posts on the executive committee Thursday night at a meeting held in the new Legion Home. Three candidates tied for the other two positions on the committee. When completed, the ten men, with the immediate past commander of the post, will elect the officers of the post.

The entire list of executive committeemen will be released next week when the tie is broken. Until then, just which, ten of the 20 candidates have been elected remains a secret. The candidates, named a week ago, are: Jesse Allen, Warren E. Brannon, Charles Burke, T. H. Craig, Jr., Fred L. Dennison, Chester P. Dunn, Charles C. Eakins, George Fogle, Howard D. Fogle, Sherman Hidy, J. Kent Hopkins, Walter E. Hutton, Robert M. Jefferson, Jesse H. Mad-dux, Ray Mershon, Charles E. Morgan, Paul S. Poe, Roy Purcell, R. B. Tharp and Richard R. Willis.

Tharp declined to disclose further any results of the Thursday election or to say who were involved in the tie.

After the executive committee is selected, its members name the commander. The adjutant did not say when the post officers would be chosen.
